DAILY CHURCH CHURCH
Sect 10 Sat Saturday

The Lutheran Church of the Pines Christian Day Care Center will have a dinner on Sat., Feb. 25.

The dinner will be at the center, located at 309 Highway 90, Waveland, from 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

For further information, call 467-4166.

AARP helps with tax preparations

AARP volunteers offer tax counseling for the elderly at the RSVP Center, old City Hall, Second Street, Bay St. Louis on Tuesdays 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. and Saturdays from 10:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Vivian Ramsey, AARP spokesman said, "This program supported by IRS with training, is for persons with low to moderate incomes aged 60 and older."

The tax aides are members of AARP and involves some four, or five volunteers each Tuesday and Saturday.

All necessary forms are available at the counseling, but tax documents received in the mail and a copy of the last year returns, if you have one, are necessary, Ramsey said.

The AARP group normally offers the service at the Bay Library, but because of expansion it has been moved to the RSVP Center until construction is completed.

Asbestos found in Bay depot

BY MARY G. SEILEY

An inspection team found "widespread" asbestos to be removed when the Bay St. Louis depot restoration project goes to construction, City Council learned Tuesday.

Consultant Mike Cuevas said much more of the material was found than previously anticipated during tests by Environmental Protection Systems in the depot's interior.

Council agreed to pay the firm an additional $2,000 to write bid specifications for removal of the material, and $800 to perform tests determining how much lead-based paint is in the structure.

Cuevas said federal funds will pay for 80 percent of the asbestos removal project.

In other business Tuesday, council agreed to have regional planners help with an annexation study city staff have begun.

Council member James Thrifiley insisted, however, that Gulf Regional Planning Commission staff give city officials a weekly report on the study.

Another councilman, Tad Black, questioned whether the GRPC effort would duplicate

Kids Neighborhood Watch scheduled

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS

A Kids Neighborhood Watch Program is being developed in the City of Bay St. Louis, in an announcement made by Police Chief Frank McNeil.

The first planned meeting for the Kids Neighborhood Watch Program is scheduled for Saturday, March 4, 11 a.m. at the Police Department's Crime Prevention Office behind the Bay Fire Department.

Chief McNeil said, "Plans have been in the making for some time to form such groups throughout the City of Bay St. Louis."

"It is generally recognized that children are the first to notice something is wrong in their neighborhoods. They are usually the ones who are moving about in the neighborhoods, playing and meeting with friends.

"Therefore, they are usually the first ones to notice when someone is in the area who does not belong there or something is out of place," McNeil added.

Several years ago Bay St. Louis Police instituted Neighborhood Watch Programs which just about cover the entire city.

The Kids Neighborhood Watch Program works much in the same way as the adult programs, with training and organiza-

Thanks to the kids

Hancock County Chamber of Commerce executive director Cindy Vernon hands a certificate of appreciation to Joshua Craft, center, and Kyle Necaise, sixth graders at Hancock North Central Elementary School. The children were among scores throughout the county participating in the telephone book recycling program sponsored by the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce and South-Central Bell. Officials said youths collected 8.93 tons of old books in Hancock County, one ton over last year's collections. The project spared almost 30 cubic yards of landfill space, saved 153 trees, and netted area schools more than $1,500 in prize money, the county Board of Supervisors was told. (Echo photo by Mary G. Seek juvenile facility funds

BY MARY G. SEILEY

Hancock County officials agreed Tuesday to look for money to build a new juvenile detention center.

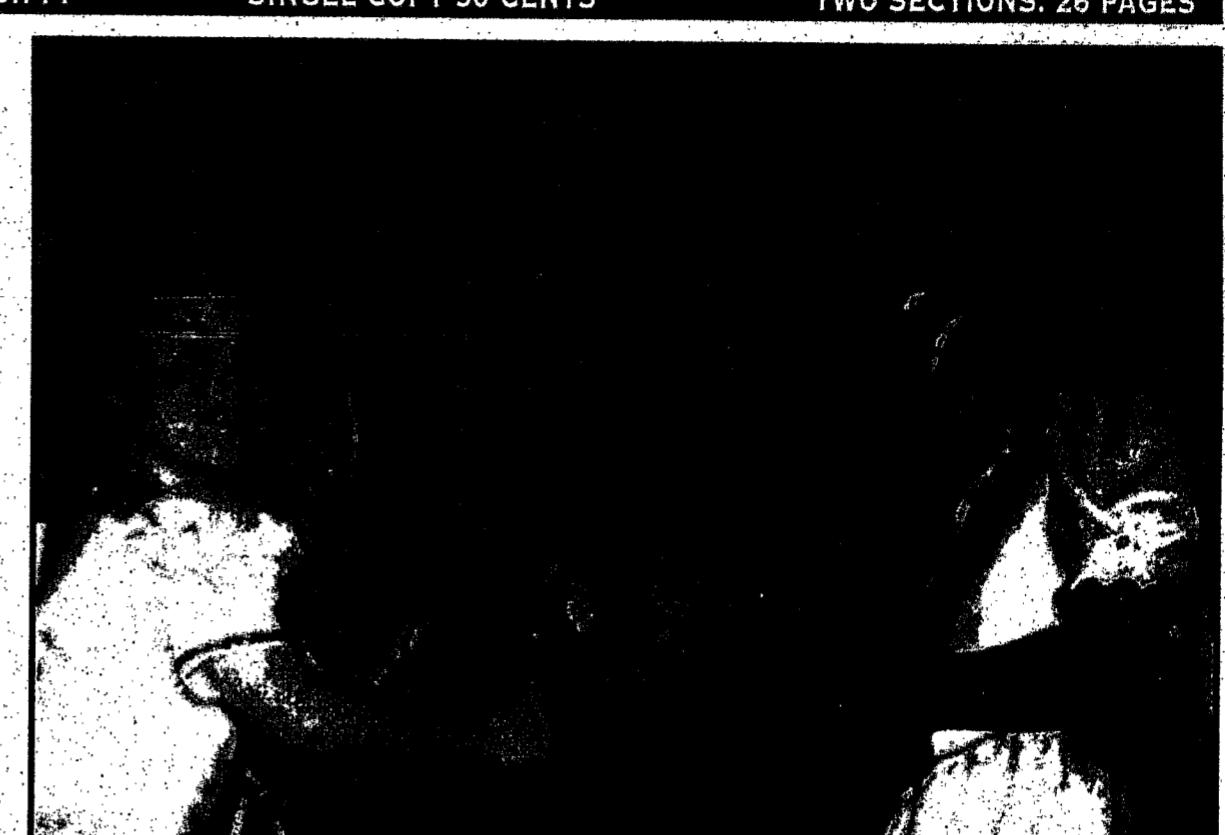

The board of supervisors Tuesday also authorized study of consolidating E-911 dispatch services of the county and the cities of Waveland and Bay St. Louis.

The county once temporarily housed juveniles in the county jail, but now is barred from doing so by federal law. Youths awaiting transit to state training schools who must be confined are being transported to Pearl River County's facility, Sheriff Ronnie Peterson told the board.

If the county were to ignore the ban on housing youths at the local jail, he said, the Immigration and Naturalization Service has warned it no longer will use the facility to house inmates there.

Peterson said the county simply can't afford to forego

Friday's royalty

Tourism commission proposed for Hancock

BY MARY G. SEILEY

Hancock County Board of Supervisors promised Tuesday to seriously consider helping finance a countywide tourism commission.

"I wouldn't want to see us drag our feet" on the proposal, said board president Michael Ladner, after hearing area tourism officials outline plans for a major new organization to promote the county's attractions. "...It's something that's needed in Hancock County."

While reaction from the supervisors was generally positive toward the proposal, there was a chilly response from the executive director of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce.

The proposed group is an offshoot of the countywide Tourism and Gaming Association that formed some five years ago to push for local approval of gaming. Now that gaming is established, the association wants to expand into a full-fledged commission, with funding from area governments, businesses, casinos and the state tourism matching grants.

Ultimately, the commission would push for some local and private legislation allowing collection of a tourism tax, paid predominately by visitors to the area.

Officials of Casino Magic and Jubilee Casino — and the proposed Casino World at Diamondhead — have pledged $1,000 each per month to support the new commission.

The association's assets, some $15,000 in cash and a computer system, would be pledged toward the commission under the plan.

Bay man charged with rape

An 18-year-old Bay St. Louis resident was arrested and charged with the Feb. 11 rape of a 13-year-old girl, according to Bay Police Detective Shane Corr.

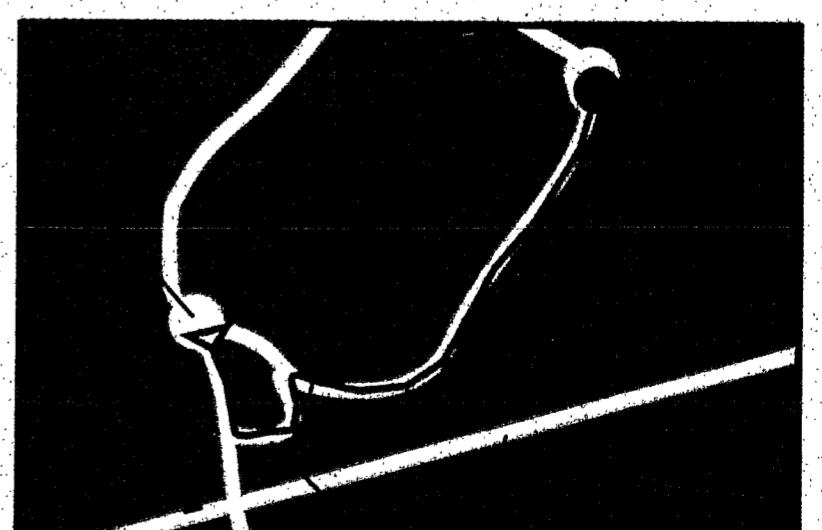

The suspect was being held at the Hancock County Jail with no bond pending a preliminary hearing scheduled for Wed., Feb. 22, Corr said.

Corr is in charge of the investigation.

St. Paul's parade

The annual St. Paul's Carnival Association parade in Pass Christian is scheduled for 1 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 26. This year's theme is 'Going My Way.' King Christian is Kenneth C. Wittman, and Queen Christiana is Gayle Parker. (Map by Moolar Devar)

Diamondhead parade

The Krewe of Diamondhead Land Parade is scheduled for noon Saturday, Feb. 25, beginning at the Community Center and ending at the Diamondhead Country Club. Royalty for the parade includes, King Ali'i Honua XX Henry Kibler and Queen Lou Lamendola, with Benny Mistretta as parade captain. The parade theme is 'Festival of the World.' (Map by Moolar Devar)

Chief Pate asks for help

BY MARY G. SEILEY

Hancock County Fire Marshal Richard Pate said Wednesday citizens of the county are being solicited to help fund a fire fighter group that does nothing for local fire departments in Hancock County.

The Mississippi Gulf Coast Council of Professional Fire Fighters, based in Ocean

Springs, has been seeking donations in Hancock County, said Pate. While the organization is a legitimate one, he added, it does not support Hancock County fire departments.

"If people want to donate to this organization, I would rather they donate to their local fire districts," said Pate.

The fire marshal said he's received a number of calls recently from citizens concerning the coastal council.

The organization has members who are employed by cities throughout the coastal area, but represents the members rather than the agencies, according to a recent letter from the group's chairman, Doug Hague.

 God sends the sunshine
 God sends the rain
 God sent his angels.
 For this special man.
 Daddy, you know you were special to me, and Jesus knew it, too. This is why I am trying so hard to understand, but I know this I must do.

Daddy, now I know your work was done, your time on earth was ended.

Jesus whispered your name, you answered his call.

Now you are celebrating your birthdays with Him.

I love you,
 Your daughter Roma and the rest of my family wishes you a special Happy Birthday.
 Love, miss you,
 Emile, Mimi and E.J.

Wilcox seeks re-election as school trustee

James Wilcox of Waveland has qualified to run in the Saturday, March 4 election for the Bay St. Louis-Waveland School Board.

Wilcox, a native of Hancock County and a graduate of Bay High, is a registered pharmacist and has been owner of Wilcox Pharmacy for 15 years.

He has a bachelor of science degree from the University of Southern Mississippi. In addition, he has a pharmacy degree from Northeast Louisiana University and has been involved in graduate studies at the University of Mississippi Medical Center.

Wilcox has served in the U.S. Coast Guard, both active duty and reserve. He is a member of the Mississippi School Board Association, National School Boards Association, Mississippi Pharmaceutical Association, the American Legion and Word of Faith Christian Fellowship. He is the current president of the Bay-Waveland School Board completing his fifth year serving the district.

He has been married 21 years to Dorothy Lane Wilcox, who is a graduate of the University of Southern Mississippi. She is employed at Hancock Medical Center.

Wilcox believes he has a direct interest in seeing that the Bay-Waveland School system is excellent. He has a daughter who is a junior at Bay High and a daughter in sixth grade at Bay Middle School.

"I believe that education is a cornerstone to the future of the Bay-Waveland area. I want to continue to work toward a top quality education for all the children in our district. I believe progress is being made, but I will continue to strive for educational excellence in our system if re-elected."

Wilcox states that he would continue to work to see that our students have the necessary resources and training to score higher on college entrance exams and tests so they can better compete to gain access to the best universities and high-paying jobs.

"I have a real desire to see technology integrated into our classrooms. Some progress has been made in this area, but we still have a way to go."

"In every community the chief responsibility for public education falls squarely on local school boards. I believe I have the necessary insight and experience to provide the effective leadership needed in advancing the vision of excellence in education in our local district."

The special election will be for qualified electors who reside in the City of Waveland and outside the corporate limits of Bay St. Louis in the school district.

Voting will be from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., March 4, Waveland Elementary School, St. Joseph Street in Waveland.

Briggs to seek re-election

Lt. Gov. Eddie Briggs announced he will seek re-election, pledging continued conservative leadership with the belief that "state government can make a difference in the lives of people without taking every penny we make, and without telling you and me how to run our homes, our businesses and our lives."

In news conferences in Gulfport, Hattiesburg, Meridian, Tupelo and Jackson, Lt. Gov. Briggs said Mississippi has made great progress during the last three years and that voters will not turn the reigns of state government back over to liberal Democrats.

"The Democrats have been out of power in Mississippi now for the past three years... and rest assured they don't like it one bit," Briggs said. "The liberals can't wait to get their snoots back into the public trough. And if they succeed, you'd better hold on to your wallets."

"Bill Clinton and his friends here in Mississippi have never seen a tax they don't lie... and their dream in 1995 would be the taxpayers' nightmare for years to come."

"We must not let the liberal Democrats regain control of the people's government. I ask the people of Mississippi today to join with me and say we want four more years of good, conservative Republican leadership."

"And if the voters send that message loud and clear in November, maybe the Democrats will finally get it," the lieutenant governor said. "I am announcing that I will seek re-election as lieutenant governor of Mississippi."

Briggs said a focus of state government the next four years must be crime control, and he said liberal Democrats don't have the answer to the problem.

Briggs' first term is a story of promises kept. He told reporters and supporters at the news conferences that he kept his promises to voters to work to make government more efficient and to shake up the status quo.

Briggs pledged to win the election "with the help of people all over this state. I promise the voters that I will work as hard the next four years as I have in the first term. I will continue to do my best to bring honor and credit to this office, and to make the people of Mississippi proud. I look forward to a spirited campaign, and a great victory in November for the people of Mississippi."

Ola Moran seeks supervisor seat

Ola Moran, 59, of Bay St. Louis, announces his candidacy for Hancock County Board of Supervisor, District 5, in the August Republican primary.

Moran was born and raised in Lakeshore and is the son of the late Clarence and Oline Moran.

Moran states, "Being familiar with the road, I see problem areas that need immediate attention. I have had 30 years of road experience, including being road foreman for 15 years for Hancock County. I'm also experienced in operating heavy equipment."

"During my campaign, I will not make promises I cannot keep. I will, if elected supervisor, service my district to the best of my ability."

Moran is married to the former Sandra Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Thomas of Biloxi. Together Ola and Sandra have 11 children, 10 of whom reside in Hancock County.

Moran is currently a farm manager and is employed with the 1906 Company in Hattiesburg.

Willie Gavney enters race for supervisor

Harold (Willie) Gavney of Bay St. Louis has announced his candidacy for supervisor of District Four in the August Democratic primary. Gavney is associated with the Hancock County Planning Commission and Board of Supervisors as building official for Hancock County.

A resident of Hancock County for the past 20 years, he is married to the former Judy L. Grisel of Beloit, Wis. They have four daughters, Tammie Fillingame, Teresa McLain, Tina DeCelle and Tracy Gavney. They also had a son, Tab Gavney, who is deceased.

Gavney's involvement, past and present, in Hancock County civic organizations include Post Quartermaster for VFW post 3253 for three and one-half years, lifetime member of Post 3253 and member of American Legion Post 139, Bay St. Louis.

Gavney worked for Bay Technical Associates Data Communication Products Division of Bay St. Louis as maintenance supervisor for six and one-half years. He is also an honorary member of the Kentwood Jaycees of Grand Rapids, Mich. for working with handicapped children.

Gavney attended Eastern Washington University, also Human Communications workshop Applied Psychology, while serving in the Navy, and Contractor Construction Inspector School. He attended instructor school and taught construction techniques in plumbing, electrical and building, for the Navy, and received two Navy Achievement Medals from the Secretary of the Navy in Washington D.C.

Gavney has worked with security groups throughout Europe and worked as Public Works supervisor. He volunteered for Vietnam with the support activity and held top secret clearance in the Navy. He is retired from the U.S. Navy Seabees.

Gavney says, in making his announcement for Beat Four supervisor, "It is important that the supervisors work together to make sure that the decisions made are for the interest of all of the county, not just for one beat, such as schools, roads, drainage. Hancock County can be one of the best places to live.

"With a knowledge in water front construction, surveying and inspections of utilities, I know I can be of help to you in the county. I am looking forward to meeting each and every one of you."

"If you are not a registered voter at this time, I encourage you to do so now. You know every vote counts. You and only you can make a difference in the way the county is run and works for you. As a home owner in the county and city, I am aware of the problems we have. So on election day make the right choice. Your support would be very much appreciated," he added.

"CUEVAS' QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

The deadline is nearing for prospective candidates in the upcoming state and local elections.

Qualifying deadline is Wednesday, March 1, 5 p.m. for all candidates, Democrats, Independents and Republicans.

There are many offices to be decided by the qualified electors in the August primaries and November General Election.

Offices from Constable to Governor will be decided. Recent changes in election laws have made it earlier to qualify than in previous elections.

If you plan on running for office, time is running out on qualifying.

For further information, contact the Hancock County Circuit Clerk's office at the courthouse.

A special treat for the annual Krewe of Bay Catholic Elementary's parade this year will be a television team in town.

Mississippi Education TV in Jackson plans on filming the parade for future showing.

The kindergarten students, and there are two classes of them, cannot wait for Friday at 11:30 a.m. when the parade is set to roll.

The parade makes the block from Union Street to the Beach Blvd. to Court Street to Second St. to old Bay City Hall to disband.

I am hoping there will be a lot of parade goers to greet the youngsters of Bay Catholic on Friday.

While on the subject of parades, we still have several more to go in our local area.

Saturday marks the annual event for Diamondhead.

The Diamondhead Land Mardi Gras Parade is set to begin at noon at the Community Center and ends at the Diamondhead Country Club.

Longtime friend Lou Lamendola is queen of the Diamondhead parade with Henry Kibler as king.

Rhonda Weidner of WLOX-TV is the grand marshal.

Longtime friend Benny Mistretta is the krewe's captain.

Sunday's parade is the annual St. Paul Carnival Association's parade in Pass Christian. It is set to begin at 1 p.m.

I will give you more details on it in Sunday's columns.

IN CONGRESS

By Rep. Gene Taylor

Taylor vows to support public broadcasting

House Speaker Newt Gingrich recently declared that he would scuttle any legislation that would appropriate one penny to the Corporation of Public Broadcasting.

As a firm believer in America's 1,000 public broadcasting stations, I am extremely concerned that one of our nation's true jewels may soon be dismantled.

The majority of funds presently used by Public Broadcasting come from state and local governments, corporate underwriting, individual contributions, colleges and other sources.

The appropriation bill for the Departments of Labor, Health and Human Services, which has jurisdiction over PBS, funds only about 14 percent of Public Broadcasting's total budget.

There is no doubt Public Broadcasting is one of our nation's best investments. The overall product delivered by Public Broadcasting is both educational and enlightening to young and old alike, not to mention a mainstay for many rural Mississippi families without cable.

We can all agree that for nearly three decades many of these programs have played a valuable role both in and out of the classroom.

There is no doubt that Mississippi Public Broadcasting has made a difference in our state and should remain accessible to our rural and inner city classroom teachers and the general public without commercial interruptions.

Widow's earnings may not affect children's benefits

A 49-year-old widow recently called our office and asked, "I receive monthly Social Security checks because I have two teenage children in my care. But I need to increase the family income. If I go to work, will the children and I stop receiving Social Security?"

The widow was relieved to learn that her children will not lose their benefits if she goes to work. However, because her benefits will be subject to the annual earnings limit, the mother's benefits will be reduced $1 for every $2 she earns over $8,040 in 1994 ($8,160 in 1995).

The amount of the children's benefits will not be affected by their mother's earnings. Their benefits will stop, however, when they reach 18, or 19 if they are still in school full-time. A child's benefits can continue beyond age 19 if he or she is disabled.

More information about benefit reductions and children's benefits is found in these fact sheets that are available from your local Social Security office:

EYES ON MISSISSIPPI

By Bill Minor

A sales tax reduction would be better for most

The stampede for an income tax "cut" pushed by Republican Gov. Kirk Fordice appeared to be unstoppable last week in the Mississippi House. What lawmakers seemed most worried about was not getting trampled by Republican elephants.

As the $77.6 million income tax bill cleared a very important hurdle in the House Ways and Means Committee and headed to the floor for a vote the atmosphere hung heavy with election-year politics.

In a 1991 study, ten of the top 15 television programs used by our nation's teachers were from public television. Dozens of Mississippi educators have contacted me to tell me they are proud to be a part of this group.

The young, however, aren't the only ones who benefit from the wealth of educational programming found on PBS. Many of Mississippi's working and retired people enjoy such programs as MacNeil/Lehrer and Masterpiece Theater. I firmly believe that it is government's job to insure the availability of education for all of our citizens — not just the young.

We can all agree that for nearly three decades many of these programs have played a valuable role both in and out of the classroom.

There is no doubt that Mississippi Public Broadcasting has made a difference in our state and should remain accessible to our rural and inner city classroom teachers and the general public without commercial interruptions.

As Fordice proposes, and reducing the seven-cent sales tax rate on food, which would affect all the people, and more so the poor. The fact that Mississippi is the only state in the union with a seven-cent sales tax on groceries (25 states have no tax on food at all) and already has one of the smallest taxes on individual and corporate income was not what many members wanted to hear.

A little adjustment of exemptions in the income tax, as the Fordice bill would do, of course, would be a lot simpler for them to do legislatively and they could still take it back home as "cutting people's taxes."

Williams confirmed to this writer his long-term fear of bringing the sales tax law on the floor of the House, saying it would be "a dangerous thing" if members got a crack at revising the sales tax, which has at least $450 million in exemptions in it already.

His concern was that some redneck populists would try to wipe out the sales tax on food entirely (a $265 million wallop) instead of just reducing it from seven to four percent as backers of the grocery tax were proposing. Secretary of State Dick Molpus, a certain Democratic candidate for Governor, has advocated the sales tax reduction on groceries as the fairest way to give Mississippians a tax break.

Of course, the juxtaposition of Molpus' idea against the income tax push by Fordice as his Reaganesque trophy had gubernatorial overtones that many lawmakers would rather not consider. The easy out, they felt, was just to get the income tax measure out of the way and not have to contend with Fordice and his campaign money bags.

Still, this issue may not easily go away, assuming that the income tax "cut" does wind up passing the legislature and being signed by Fordice with all the trappings of a Hollywood premiere.

The benefits from the Fordice plan will be imperceptible to the average Mississippian who already is paying little, if any, state income tax. But if they could see a little less money coming out of the pocket every week when they went by the checkout counter of the grocery store with bags of food for their family, it would have some meaning.

Ultimatum given to contractor

BY JIM BREWER

"They finish the job by March 30 or face immediate termination of the contract."

This is the notice which was approved by the Hancock County School Board that will be given to Steel Building Enterprises. The company is the contractor replacing the roof at Gulfview Elementary School in Lakeshore.

The $125,700 contract originally was supposed to be completed in March of 1994. Board member Larry Peterson wanted to give the contractor two weeks to complete the project, claiming that "two weeks is long enough to finish the job."

Board attorney Benvenuti will meet with Chuck Singletary of Steel Building Enterprises and a bonding company representative today in regard to board's action.

In other action Wednesday at the board meeting, a recommendation by Superintendent Myrna Bourgeois for administrative personnel for the 1995-96 school year was tabled pending reports from some district-funded administrators.

A special meeting will be held Friday, Feb. 24 at 5 p.m. to discuss the recommendations by Bourgeois. Administrators are automatically renewed if no action is taken by the board prior to March 1.

ETV to televise parade

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS

The Krewe of Bay Catholic Elementary parade is scheduled for Friday, Feb. 24, 11:30 a.m. in Bay St. Louis.

Connie Heitzmann said, "There will be a special treat for this year's parade, as Mississippi Educational Television is set to televise the parade for later broadcast."

"We have been told they will use the school's parade as an example as to how to form and conduct a school Mardi Gras festival," Heitzmann said.

This year's theme is 'International Festival,' and each class is representing a different country in the world they have respectively studied this year.

There will be two kings, two queens, and several parade marshals, including Teardrop and Buttercup, Coast personalities who visit the various schools regularly.

Included in the parade will be the St. Stanislaus Junior High band, Smokey the Bear, Sammy Soil, Second Liners and other surprises, Heitzmann said.

The parade starts in Bay Catholic's school yard, Union Street to Beach Boulevard to Court Street to Second Street to old Bay City Hall and disband.

work already done by Continental Consultants, a firm retained by the city to develop a comprehensive plan for Bay St. Louis.

Mayor Eddie Favre said the two studies aren't duplicative. The comprehensive plan considered some non-incorporated areas in its overall scope, he said, but didn't include the information the city wants on potential annexations. He didn't elaborate.

In related business, council agreed to pay GRPC a rate of $30 per hour for special studies it conducts for the city during the coming year.

In other matters, council:

—Authorized $105,000 to buy McDonald Field facilities.

Favre said the price represented the average of two appraisals that were completed on the property.

—Agreed to abandon an unconstructed portion of Leopold Street at the request of adjoining property owners. Favre said the city has no plans for using the 21-foot right-of-way between Dunbar and Laurrie streets.

—Promised business owners in the second block of Main Street that decorative street lights will be installed in their area. First, however, the city has to appropriate funds for such a project.

Favre said such lights in the first block of Main cost some $1,500 each when installed several years ago. While extending the lighting to the second block of Main is not in the current budget, Favre said he would propose funding for the project during the budget amendment process later in the fiscal year.

Approved recommendations from the Planning and Zoning Commission for subdividing 10 acres of the Camp Onward tract on South Beach Boulevard into three parcels.

Council also agreed with the commission to reject a sign height variance that had been requested by Waffle House. The question was moot, however.

Shortly after the commission refused last week to recommend such a variance, restaurant officials applied for a permit to erect a sign within the city's 32-foot limit.

zation provided by Bay Officers from the Crime Prevention Unit.

The kids program is being implemented because they are an untapped source of vast amounts of information which can be useful to the police in solving and preventing crimes in their neighborhoods. Members are instructed what to watch for and who to call. They are also instructed not to take any direct action themselves," McNeil said.

"Lt. Don Ocsa and Officer Joe Kepfer will be directing the Kids Neighborhood Watch Program for the police department," McNeil said.

"Both are certified Crime Prevention Specialists and both deal extensively with kids.

Additionally, I am planning on asking members of the Police Department's Explorer Unit to assist them with the new program. I believe that together, we can make a big difference," McNeil added.

ST. ANN AND ST. JOHN NEWS

Thoughts for meditation:
Just as out of the dark ground comes the blossom, so out of the night a morning appears.

Father, thank You for the sense of Your presence in the midst of the anxieties of our daily life. Help me to realize Your love for me and to be reminded of it with the dawn of each new day. Amen.

It is not how troubled the sea is that determines the course of your life; it is who the pilot is.

The Lord will either calm your storm or allow it to rage while He calms you.

If God is for us — who can be against us?

Romans 8:31

In this new life one's nationality or race or education or social position is unimportant. Whether a person has Christ is what matters, and he is equally available to all.

Col. 3:11

Father, the world is so full of need. Break down barriers that would keep us from showing Your love to all mankind. Amen.

Our voluntary thoughts not only reveal what we are, they predict what we will become.

and smell the pralines," said association past president Jim Henrie during Tuesday's presentation.

He said Hancock County should wage an all-out effort to be a "viable player" in the developing coastal tourism industry.

Another association past president, Bill Lady, said the county should view the commission as "not an expense for Hancock County but ... an investment with very good rate of return."

Harrison County tourism officials also addressed the board, urging Hancock to set up a commission operation similar to the neighboring county's.

Two Chamber of Commerce officials were on hand during the presentation and were asked to respond. Chamber director Cindy Vernon noted that the chamber had not received an increase in county funding it requested for this year.

And the chamber hasn't taken advantage of the state's matching grant program to promote tourism, she said, because the chamber hasn't had the local share to put up for that program.

Vernon said the chamber is a more diverse organization than one that deals exclusively with tourism, although the group has shown it's capable of "focusing" on many special areas.

"While we're in full agreement with the need for a more aggressive focus on tourism ... I'm not 100 percent certain a whole (new) organization needs to be started," she said.

Ellis Cuevas, Chamber president, said the commission proposal would have to be studied by the Chamber's board.

Reaction from the Board of Supervisors was generally positive. "... It's a good program. The more help we get, the better off we are," said Supervisor William Seymour.

Ladner said the commission's efforts could spur new development and jobs within the county. "I don't see how we could go wrong," said Ladner.

Supervisor Robert Peterson said he would support financing the new organization through a local tourism tax, but he questioned how the county government could afford an unbudgeted expenditure to the commission. And supervisor Howard Lizzana said the county should not support duplicative efforts of the commission and Chamber.

Chancery Clerk Michael Necease said if the board so desires, there's money to be found within the county budget to support the new group.

The board agreed to consider the commission proposal further at a workshop next week.

Peterson said area officials are in agreement that the 911 dispatch function should be consolidated.

Rather than buy recording equipment for each of the three departments, she said, the 911 Commission wants to work toward consolidation of that function. The board authorized regional planners to study the economics of such a consolidation.

Jubilee Casino

Allen Fontenot

The foot-stomping sounds of Zydeco legend Allen Fontenot & The Country Cajuns can be heard live at Bayou Caddy's Jubilee Casino's Mardi Gras Bar Feb. 24-26 from 6-11 p.m.

Fontenot, whose career spans nearly three decades, has recorded such hits as "Old Fais-Do-Do," "Black Bayou," "Ville Platte Woman," and "Louisiana Cajun Music."

He has appeared on the music show "Austin City Limits," as well as "Good Morning America" and "The Country Swing Show."

Captain's Table

The Captain's Table, Bayou Caddy's Jubilee Casino's new 40-seat gourmet restaurant aboard the Jubilation dinner vessel, will be open Mardi Gras Day from 5-10 p.m.

The Captain's Table features especially selected aged USDA prime beef, steaks and fresh seafood. Reservations are required.

Party With The Krewe

Mardi Gras Day is the final day for the "Party With The Krewe" slot promotion. Slot players using the Jubilee Joe Krewe Card who accumulate 250 points or more can win either a delicious three-pound fruit-filled King Cake from Paul's of Picayune or a colorful collector's "Party With The Krewe" T-shirt.

There are no limits to the number of prizes that can be won.

President Casino leases Gold Shore facility

President Casinos, Inc. has entered into an agreement with American Gaming & Entertainment, Ltd. to lease the Gold Shore Casino barge and move it to their site at the Broadwater Beach Resort Hotel Marina in Biloxi.

The move will replace and expand the President's current gaming, food and beverage and entertainment facilities. Gaming square footage will increase from 20,500 to 38,000.

Number of slot machines will increase from 609 to 1005 and table games will move from 44 to 50. The new facility is expected to be fully operational by June.

The charter agreement provides for an initial five year term, with two additional five year options periods. Monthly lease payments will be $328,746.82. The President also has an option to buy the barge at its appraised value during the lease term, subject to certain restrictions.

According to Edward Ellers, president of the company, "This will enable the President to increase operating results by better exploiting our outstanding site in Biloxi and by providing a spectacular facility with more amenities for our customers."

Liver transplant fund set for resident

A liver transplant fund has been established at Merchants Bank and Trust for Mrs. Paula Carrie-Morel of Bay St. Louis.

Mrs. Carrie-Morel is married to Pete Morel of Bay St. Louis.

Liver problems have haunted Mrs. Carrie-Morel for the past ten years and have become severe during the past three years.

She is currently number one on the transplant list at Tulane Medical Center in New Orleans and number seven nationwide said Thomas Henry McWethy Sr., a friend of the family, who is assisting with the arrangements, etc., for her surgery.

Presently Mrs. Carrie-Morel is using several medications, and they will increase, even after surgery, to at least $1,000 a month.

She will also have a required stay in the hospital of approximately two months after the surgery.

Any donations will be greatly appreciated by the family.

Those wishing to make a contribution can send it to: Carrie-Morel Medical Fund, Merchants Bank & Trust Co., Highway 90, Bay St. Louis, MS 39520.

IN AND AROUND DIAMONDHEAD

By Margaret Williamson

MARDI GRAS FUN

And the good times were rolling at the Grand Casino in Gulfport last Monday.

Members of the Krewe of Diamondhead, King Henry Kibler and Queen Lou Lamendola, were clapping their hands and tapping their feet to the music of Jerry Fisher and his Music Co. There was good food and merry-making. Mardi Gras fun was had by all.

ACADEMY HAPPENINGS

Mark your calendars for March 24 and get tickets now for Diamondhead Academy's sixth annual $10,000 Countdown.

Doors open at 6 p.m. at Rogers Hall, 88360 Diamondhead Drive E, and the countdown begins at 7. Tickets are $100. Call 255-5814 or 255-4026 for tickets and information.

REPUBLICAN LADIES

The next meeting is March 2 at 11 a.m. at the community center in Diamondhead. Lunch is optional. Plan to bring a friend and join this active group. Call Pat Reeb at 255-4181 for more information.

Stennis names new director of operations

Florence Kailiwi-Barnett has been named the new director of NASA's Center Operations, a senior management position at the John C. Stennis Space Center.

Kailiwi-Barnett will be responsible for the management of engineering, construction, maintenance and operations of specialized facilities required for testing rocket propulsion systems.

Her duties will include overseeing technical and institutional services for all NASA programs, such as environmental compliance, security and equipment.

The Office of Center Operations also provides support to the 22 other federal and state agencies and university elements in residence.

"I am very pleased that Florence agreed to join our team at Stennis," said Roy Estess, Stennis Space Center director. "She brings new experience, ideas

New government publication on cholesterol now available

More than half of all Americans have dangerously high blood cholesterol levels. Many of these individuals are at great risk for coronary heart disease. Yet simple steps can be taken to lower your blood cholesterol level and reduce this risk to your heart.

Step By Step: Eating to Lower Your High Blood Cholesterol is a new U.S. Government publication that will help you learn how to identify and eat foods that are low in saturated fats and cholesterol.

Key facts about high blood cholesterol and how it relates to your heart are discussed.

General rules and guidance for diet, physical activity and weight loss are given. Practical tips about adopting healthy eating habits, buying and preparing foods, eating at restaurants and social events, and choosing a weight loss program are provided.

Fourteen comprehensive tables list the saturated fat, cholesterol and sodium content in foods. Colorful charts and graphs are used throughout to emphasize guidance and advice.

Produced by the National Institute of Health and endorsed by the American Heart Association, the publication is an easy to use guide to lowering your high blood cholesterol by taking control of what you eat.

It is a must for those with high blood cholesterol who want to do something about it.

MORE DO-GOODERS

Thank you and congratulations to Jim and Dot Van Norman of Diamondhead, who despite their busy lifestyle find time to be of service and help others in need.

Both work on many projects, including for The Salvation Army and RSVP, and Dot also is a volunteer with the "Gaits to Success" program.

Jim encourages people who have so much to give to get involved and help the people who are hurting and the less fortunate. He knows from experience the payback is wonderful. He and Dot derive a lot of pleasure seeing the faces of those they help.

BIG WEEKEND

Mardi Gras is Tuesday, Feb. 28. The big parade of "Festivals Around the World" begins at noon at the community center.

King Henry and Queen Lou hope to see all of their loyal subjects and friends along the way and ending at the country club for the Mardi Gras party.

Music is by "Take Five" from 7 to 11 p.m., cash bar, 6:30-11 p.m., hors d'oeuvres from 6:30 to 9 p.m.

THOUGHTS TO SHARE

A suggestion in the book "Random Acts of Kindness" is that for one week we act on every generous impulse we have.

That seems like a lot to ask, kind of like making us dive off the high board when we're still learning to swim.

But what if we all do just one kind thing, it can't hurt, and who knows where it might lead — maybe to another one.

Be good to each other and have a wonderful, safe and happy Mardi Gras.

Find out how to locate missing vital records

Where To Write For Vital Records is an important U.S. Government publication that explains how and where to write for birth, death, marriage and divorce certificates.

Official certificates for birth, death, marriage and divorce events are on file in various state, city, county and other local government offices. This publication lists the appropriate agencies to contact in each state within the United States, including the address and telephone number and the cost of a copy.

Other useful information on the availability of records and how to obtain certified copies is also provided.

Specific instructions on what to include in your request when writing for records are described.

Information and instructions on how to obtain foreign records and certificates of citizenship are also covered.

Plane started in Bay completes first test flight

Global Aircraft Corporation launched its new generation GT-3 Trainer airplane on Feb. 12 from Starkville (Miss.) Municipal Airport.

The 50-minute first flight met all flight test engineering goals according to veteran Global test pilot Gifford Bull.

The test flight was uneventful and the airplane performed and handled exceptionally well, thereby verifying the scale model wind tunnel tests conducted at the NASA Langley Research Center and the extensive computer analysis conducted by Global engineers during the design phase.

"This first flight was five years in the making," said Mike Smith, executive vice president, "and it was executed just like we planned."

The GT-3 Trainer incorporates an advanced composite structure, advanced aerodynamic design, and numerous special design features that enhance its role as a primary trainer airplane.

The three-seat airplane, powered by the proven Lycoming O-320 (160 hp) engine, is scheduled to complete FAA certification in 1996, and is designed to meet the training requirements of professional flight training schools.

The ergonomically designed cockpit and flight control systems are incorporated into a 50-inch wide cockpit with excellent visibility. The GT-3 will be used to provide primary and instrument instruction for new pilots.

A student and flight instructor will occupy side-by-side seats with a centerline mounted rear seat for an observer.

One of the main features of the GT-3 is its low-drag configuration resulting in excellent fuel economy at training speeds of 120 to 130 miles per hour.

Global has worked closely with numerous flight schools and the University Aviation Association in developing the GT-3 Trainer.

The trainer incorporates advanced technology in the areas of aerodynamics, composite materials, cockpit displays, and computer aided design and manufacturing.

New plane

Global Aircraft Corporation launched its new generation GT-3 Trainer airplane Feb. 12 from Starkville Municipal Airport. The planning and construction on the airplane began in Bay St.

Louis Mike Smith, formerly of Bay St. Louis, is the executive vice-president of Global Aircraft Corporation.

Flight training schools are currently operating old technology training airplanes and existing airplanes adapted to the training mission.

Important to the development of the GT-3, Global has been contracted by NASA to develop technology for a modern, general aviation training airplane for the 21st Century.

Global has teamed with Embry Riddle University and several other engineering and avionics manufacturers on this project. This latest technology will be phased into the Global GT-3 trainer production line units in 1996.

"The decision of Global Aircraft to proceed with the certification and production of the GT-3 Trainer has been favorably influenced by the recent passage of product liability legislation in Congress which will limit the liability of light aircraft manufacturers," said Global chairman Wilbur O. Colom.

"The light airplane industry has been in a state of hibernation for the past dozen years and it desperately needs relief from oppressive product liability litigation as well as a generous shot of new technology," said Robert Stewart, vice president of engineering.

"Existing light airplane technology is over 40 years old," continued Stewart, "while the GT-3 Trainer will incorporate the latest technology and operate more efficiently."

Global executives believe the GT-3 Trainer will bridge a generation of technology development and result in an airplane that will be safer, cheaper to manufacture, cost less, weigh less, and have greater fuel economy.

Global is currently conducting the GT-3 certification program from its Starkville facilities.

The company is considering several locations for a manufacturing facility, which would employ close to 300 workers for initial production of the GT-3.

A decision on the site selection is expected within the next three months.

In personal finances, best advice is 'plan ahead'

To effectively manage personal finances, the best investment you can make is the time to plan, says a Mississippi State University banking expert.

Larry White, director of the Banking Excellence Program in the university's College of Business and Industry, says that consumers often take a "crisis" approach to personal finances.

"Consumers often respond to the immediate need without thinking ahead," he noted. "Not planning may be the biggest single mistake in handling personal finances."

He offers the following tips for managing individual finances:

* Develop a plan. "It doesn't have to be extremely detailed, but it should involve assessment of current and future needs," White advises.

The PSC uses the plan to set rates based on semi-annual reviews of the company's performance and financial condition.

For Mississippi Power's residential customers, the cost of 1,000 kilowatt-hours of electricity will remain $67.79. In a January survey of 60 utilities nationwide, Mississippi Power's rates were lower than those of 52 others. The national average for 1,000 kilowatt-hours of electricity was $86.99, more than 28 percent higher than Mississippi Power's.

The evaluation of Mississippi still a good way to save, for instance. And you may want to explore tax-sheltered annuity plans available through your employer." Each allow you to have a certain amount automatically deducted from your paycheck.

* Stick to your budget.

You've accomplished nothing by planning if you don't follow your plan," White points out.

But it's also good to remember that budgets are not cast in stone. "A budget is dynamic and changing. You should review it and revise it periodically."

The next PEP-2 filing, for the first half of 1995, will be in August.

Mississippi Power serves more than 183,000 customers in 23 counties in southeast Mississippi. Mississippi Power is a member of The Southern Company, which serves more than 11 million people in the southeastern United States.

Next, think of the future. "What expenses and income do you anticipate? Too many people today fail to think ahead."

* Once you've assessed expenses, develop a budget. While a written budget is not required, writing down each expense does have an advantage, White notes.

"If your budget isn't written, you may forget sporadic expenses. They may later surprise you."

An important part of budgeting is paying yourself, he emphasizes.

"Make sure you include savings or investing for contingencies and for the future. Include savings in your budget. Write a check to your savings account when you pay your mortgage."

White also advises using every opportunity to manage finances and taxes through payroll plans.

Family art show

The father, son and sister family of James Williams, Milton Williams and Phyllis Williams-Levy are presenting their works of art through the month of February at the Pass Christian Library. Art at top is by Phyllis Williams-Levy; cartoon at center, is by James Williams; and art at bottom is by Milton Williams. The family is involved in various types of art, such as imaging, cartoons, watercolors, oils, charcoal, etc. The Pass Library is open Monday through Friday 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and is located behind the City Hall off West Second Street.

Be cautious with cold medicines

Tis the season... for winter colds, that is. With the increase of sneezing, coughing, fever, headaches and congestion, people should learn about medications and their usage, says Rachel Robinson, medication information pharmacist and instructor at The University of Mississippi.

When using over-the-counter (OTC) medicines, a combination antihistamine and decongestant works for runny nose, itchy eyes and head cold symptoms.

Follow package directions carefully, and ask your pharmacist or physician any specific questions dealing with OTC or prescription medicines.

Diabetics and people with hypertension should avoid taking decongestants, said Robinson, offering the following additional advice on drugs and methods of combating winter illnesses:

- Avoid depressants. The major side effects of antihistamines are drowsiness, dry mouth and a general "hung-over" feeling, so avoid alcohol and other central nervous system depressants.

In addition, be careful driving and operating heavy machinery, warned the instructor in the Ole Miss Research Institute of Pharmaceutical Sciences.

- Limit caffeine. Decongestants, on the other hand, will make you hyperactive, so watch your caffeine intake. Coffee, tea and colas will add to the hyper effect and may cause heart palpitations and rising blood pressure.

Remember Mom's advice. Even with modern medicines, your mother's advice still holds: Drink plenty of liquids (juice and water, no caffeine), get lots of rest, and keep the room moist to prevent nasal passages from drying out.

The new dry powder medicines that are mixed with hot water are good because you get medication and fluid in one step, the Ole Miss instructor said.

Take separate medications for aches. "If you are having aches and pain, you can safely take aspirin or acetaminophen with both antihistamines and decongestants," Robinson said.

Be careful with cold medication around children. One of the biggest dangers of cold medicines is accidental poisoning of children. If your youngsters get too much of a cold medicine, observe them carefully to see if they become lethargic or hyperactive.

Contact your local poison center if they do react adversely. Depending on their age and size, children will react differently, but these medications can be dangerous in high doses and should be handled with caution, Robinson said.

By Donald Mauffray, CVS
Veterans have a new avenue available to ensure that federal agencies properly consider them for jobs in the competitive civil service.

Using authority provided under the Veterans Employment, Training and Counseling Amendments of 1988, the Office of Personnel Management (OPM) and the Department of Labor (DOL) have developed procedures to resolve certain kinds of federal employment complaints brought by veterans. The time limit for filing a complaint is 45 days from the date of the action.

A vet may file a complaint is he or she:

- Served on active duty for more than 180 days, other than for training, and has other than a dishonorable discharge;

- Has a service-connected disability;

- Is a member of a Reserve component who was ordered to active duty under 10 USC 672 or 10 USC 673; served on active duty during a period of war; received a campaign medal; and has other than a dishonorable discharge.

A veteran should discuss concerns with a supervisor and/or the federal agency personnel

Special employment complaint procedures for veterans office that took the action. If unable to resolve the matter with the agency, the veteran has two options:

- Contact the local state employment service office and speak to a veteran representative or a Disabled Veterans Outreach program representative, who will make sure the complainant's information is complete and forward the complaint to the DOL;

- File a written complaint directly with a DOL veterans Employment and Training Service (VETS) Office. The location of this office on the Coast is 313 Abbey Court, Biloxi, MS, phone 388-9938, or call 1-800-442-2838.

A veteran may file a complaint if a federal agency:

- Fails to grant Veterans Preference in initial appointment. By law, preference is limited to veterans who are disabled or who served on active duty during specified periods or in a campaign for which a service medal was awarded;

- Fails to list vacancies with the state employment service when the agency is considering "outside" candidates—that is, people who are not eligible for noncompetitive appointment;

- Fails to establish a program to provide job opportunities for disabled veterans and veterans eligible for Veterans Readjustment Appointments.

Rocks bow out of playoffs 69-51

End season at 23-12

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II

The hunt for a state title for the St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaw basketball team came to an abrupt halt with 1:34 to go in the third period.

Petara Jones tipped in a loose ball to cap a 7-0 run by the Northeast Jones Tigers at the Brother Peter Memorial Gym on Tuesday, February 21. The Tigers took a 47-40 lead and the momentum and would not relinquish it thereafter.

The Northeast Jones Tigers defeated the St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaws 69-51 in the state basketball playoffs. The Tigers are the defending state 4A champions while the Rocks are the Division 8 Class 4A champions. This marks back-to-back trips to the playoffs for the Rocks; however, SSC has been ousted in the first round both times.

Coach Jay Ladner said, "The score is not indicative of the game. We played a hard game. A team just can't win a ball-game when the other team goes to the line 14 times in a period. Plus, we didn't score for six minutes in the final period."

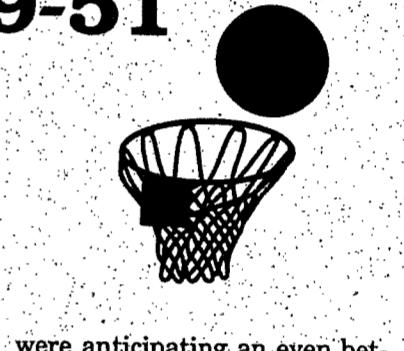

Ladner continued, "We scouted them last Friday and we knew right away that we could not match up man-to-man with them. So we tried to slow the game down because Northeast Jones was quicker and stronger than we were. We played a strong first half. In the second half, we had some breakdowns on defense and our shooting was way off."

The Rocks jumped out quick to a 9-0 lead with 3:43 to go in the first period. However, the Tigers pulled to within three when Answar Morgan nailed a three-pointer with 1:11 to go in the period. The score was 16-11 after one period.

Armond Wilson gave the Tigers their first lead of the ballgame at 20-19 with a 10 foot jumper with 6:25 to go in the second period. The Rocks wasted no time in taking the lead back with Terry Lawyer the putback with 4:57 to go in the half.

The Tigers tied the game at 31-31 with a two-point basket by Petara Jones and a foul shot. The score at halftime was 31-31.

It was a very fast and up-tempo first half. Most of the fans at the packed SSC Rockhouse were anticipating an even better second half.

The Rocks came out in the second half and scored the first four points of the third period. The Rocks lost the lead for the final time at 2:45 to go in the third with an Answar Morgan jump shot. Not too long afterwards, the Tigers jumped ahead by seven points at 47-40 and had taken away the momentum from the Rocks for good. The third period ended at 49-45.

Even though the Rocks were down only five points, they never could seem to get the momentum back. The Rocks went until 1:58 to go in the game before they scored again. Brandon Benoit hit a free throw to make the score 61-45, but by then the game was out of reach.

Brandon Benoit and Terry Lawyer each ended the game with 17 points each. Vince Moran capped his career with 11 points and 4 assists. Armond Wilson led the Tigers with 18 points, and Jamie Jones added 15 points.

The Rocks ended their season at a very respectable 23-12. Coach Jay Ladner commented, "We had a good year. We made it to the playoffs for the second straight year and have back-to-back 20-win seasons. The future is very bright for us with our junior varsity players moving up. They have tallied a 35-9 record in two years under Coach Spell."

He recalled, "We have improved every year I've been here. Hopefully, we will continue to improve because the boys can see that the goals we set are very achievable. I look forward to working with the players moving up next year and my best goes out to the seniors who are leaving."

To tan or not to tan?

Special to The Echo

The sun is a wonderful friend. Plants arch toward the sun and human impulse is to do the same. Life as we know it would be impossible without the gifts it grants us daily. With springtime right around the corner, the beaches will soon be filled. Therefore, we remind you how to get the most out of the sun without damaging your skin.

So what is sunshine? It is combination of ultraviolet light rays. These are UVA, the tanning ray and UVB, the burning ray. UVA, the longer ray, penetrates the skin to the deeper layers without causing a sunburn. UVB is a shorter ray that bombards the skin and is much more likely to cause sunburn and long-term irreversible skin damage. Sunburns are associated with melanoma.

So what are the benefits of the sun? Did you know that:

- UV rays work with cholesterol levels in your skin to create Vitamin D, resulting in lowered serum cholesterol.
- UV rays combat osteoporosis. Sun-produced Vitamin D make it possible for your body to absorb calcium and other vital minerals from your diet. This means stronger teeth and bones. At high levels, dietary supplements of Vitamin D have known to be very toxic.

- Exposure to sunlight may have similar effects as exercise such as decreased blood pressure, lower resting heart rate, and a 39% increase in output of blood.

- Sunlight stimulates the thyroid gland which boosts your metabolism. Lack of UV rays can cause your body to store fat.

- Dermatologists use sun therapy for the treatment of acne, psoriasis and other skin disorders.

- UV exposure reduces stress by decreasing adrenaline and noradrenaline levels for an "anti-stressing" effect and releases endorphins for the feeling of "well-being".

- Ten minute exposure to ultraviolet light one to three times a week results in a reduction of frequency of common colds up to 40%.

- Sunlight exposure may prevent certain types of cancer: colon and breast cancer are three times higher in northern states like New Hampshire and Vermont compared to sunny states like New Mexico and Arizona.

- Skin cancer has been linked to non UV causes such as diet, genetics and alcohol. A study by the University of Sydney's Melanoma Clinic in 1982 found the highest incidence of skin cancer occurred in those who spent most of their time indoors under fluorescent lighting.

- Currently AIDS research clinics use sun therapy as an effective tool for boosting the body's immune system.

- UV is used to treat neonatal premature infants.

- In Germany, a new government regulation requires hospitals to use UV full spectrum lighting in their operation rooms which reduces the bacteria count by as much as 50%.

- As a result patients have been found to recover faster and have fewer post-operative infections.

For more information on the benefits of the sun, "Heliotherapy", visit your local library.

Remember to maximize the benefits of the sun, you must achieve balance and determine the best amount of sun exposure for you, whether tanning indoors or outdoors, based on your skin type and how easily you burn. Consult your physician if you have any doubt and DO NOT ever allow yourself to burn.

Repeated over exposure from the sun (pink or redness of the skin) can lead to premature aging, wrinkling and skin cancer.

However, moderate exposure in combination with the use of quality SPF skin and lip protection outdoors and skin moisturizers can help you optimize the beneficial aspects of having a spectacular golden brown tan while minimizing the negative effects of skin dehydration. Again, as a rule, always remember to use:

1. SPF skin protection for any outdoors activities such as cutting grass, boating, sun bathing, playing ball, etc... whether tanned or not.

2. SPF lip protection whether tanning indoors or outdoors because the lips do not have the ability to tan.

3. When outdoors always wear protective eye wear such as sunglasses with UV protection.

4. And finally always use a quality skin moisturizer on a daily basis.

Be safe and enjoy yourself!

Celebrate 100 days

Kindergarten students at Charles B. Murphy Elementary recently celebrated 100 days of school. During the week-long celebration, students listed 100 books they have read; constructed a 100-box wall for Humpty Dumpty; created a 100-dot ladybug; collected 100 items and used them to create a collage; and made "100" books. The concept of 100 is difficult for many young children to understand. The children enjoyed the activities and learned many ways to count, display and represent the number 100. Those in photo are, standing from left, kindergarten assistant Susie Necaise, kindergarten teacher Angela Butler, Courtney White, Ashley Gibson, Dale Sonnier, Shane Martin and Raoul Boughton; kneeling, Kristen Tillery and Justin Laurent; sitting, Theresa Burnett, Jenna Smith, Herb Cotty, Ryan Smith, Kimberly Macon and B. Stennis Space Center releases economic impact on area

Officials from NASA's John C. Stennis Space Center released the results from a recently completed study which focused on the economic impact the space center had on the state of Mississippi and Louisiana.

The report stated that during fiscal year 1994, Stennis Space Center had a total economic impact of $374 million. Within 50 miles of the space center, the economic impact on the states of Mississippi and Louisiana was $254 million.

NASA gathers its annual economic data and compiles it with economic impact information gathered from the 22 other agencies and eight contractors located at Stennis Space Center.

The data are then provided to Mississippi State University, where Dr. Charles Campbell, associate professor of economics, analyzes it and provides an assessment of the center's total economic impact.

In his report, Campbell stated that Stennis Space Center is a major source of employment in Hancock County and is a significant source of employment for Hancock, Harrison and Pearl River counties in Mississippi and St. Tammany Parish, La.

If Stennis Space Center had not been in operation in 1994, considering both direct and indirect effects, a conservative estimate of reduction in employment for the local area would be 13,124 jobs, the report said.

A similar conservative estimate indicates that personal income would have been reduced by more than $438 million, and retail sales would have been reduced by 197 million.

In addition, it is estimated that Stennis Space Center had a tax revenue impact of $30 million on local government revenues.

Mississippi officials report that the state has a general fund budget of approximately $2 billion, and Stennis Space Center contributes about $41 million to that general fund budget, or about 2 percent.

As Mississippi Gov. Kirk Fordice has stated, "Stennis Space Center pays 2 percent of every general fund expenditure for educators' salaries from kindergarten through graduate schools, salaries of state employees, legislators' pay and support, and 2 percent throughout the remainder of the state government."

Campbell's report also details the distribution of Stennis Space Center's 3,575 employees by residence: 963 employees resided in Pearl River County, Miss.; 815 lived in St. Tammany Parish, La.; 771 lived in Harrison County, Miss., and 722 lived in Hancock County, Miss.

There are 1,466 employees at Stennis Space Center involved in scientific and engineering fields; 465 are business professionals; 1,001 are technicians or are involved in crafts or production; and 465 hold clerical positions.

Of Stennis Space Center's civil service and military employees, 7 percent hold doctorate degrees; 20 percent have master's degrees; 34 percent have bachelor's degrees; and 10 percent have associate's degrees.

In his report, Campbell stated that Stennis Space Center is a major source of employment in Hancock County and is a significant source of employment for Hancock, Harrison and Pearl River counties in Mississippi and St. Tammany Parish, La.

Nereids March

Winners named in Nereids parade

The Krewe of Nereids 29th parade with some 82 units rolled down Highway 90 in Waveland and Bay St. Louis Sunday despite threats of rain.

A drizzle fell right before the parade began, but stopped as the floats began to roll and held up until almost every float made the trek from start to finish.

Reports indicate there was a record number of spectators to greet the Ladies of Nedreids with King Nerus XXZ Dr. Andrew K Martinolich Jr., MD.

The winners named in the various categories were:

—Walking Groups; first, Gulf Coast Newcomers; second, Old Biloxi Marching Group; and third, Nothing Good Working.

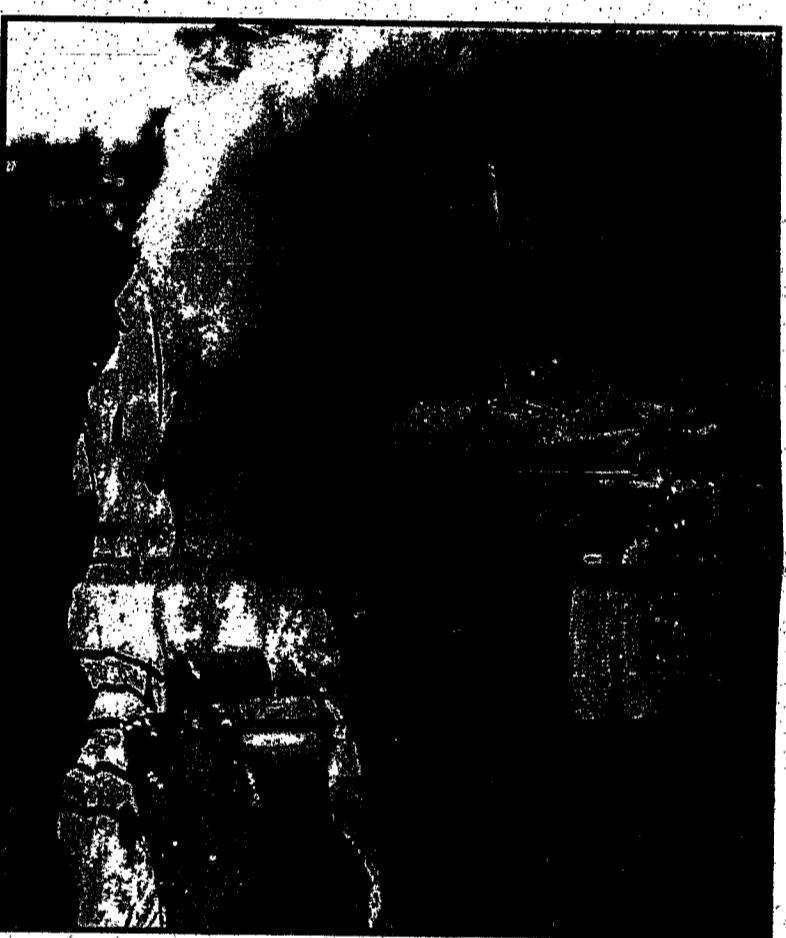

—Floats - Sponsored by Business; first, Krewe of Grand; second, WEV Fox 25; and third, Hancock County Lawmen.

—Floats - Sponsored by Neighborhood Groups; first, Krewe of Kommotion; second Krewe of Good Times; and third, Krewe of Round.

—Floats - Sponsored by Krewes; first, Krewe of Who Dat; second, Krewe of Vishna; and third, Krewe of Apollo.

Best Overall Float honors went to the Krewe of Kommotion.

Wittmann, Parker reign over Mardi Gras in Pass Christian

King Christian LXV and 1995 Queen Christiana will be Kenneth C. Wittmann Sr. and Gayle Parker. The 1995 carnival theme is "Going My Way."

Wittmann is a life-long resident of Pass Christian. He attended St. Joseph School (now St. Paul), St. Stanislaus and LSU, where he was a center on the 1958 National Championship Squad. He majored in industrial technology and worked for Chrysler Corporation for 10 years in the Saturn Booster program. After "Camille" he joined his father in his construction company.

He is a veteran of the US Army in Europe, serving as an instructor in the Hawk Missile program.

In recent years he has been active in many business and civic activities, such as St. Paul School Board (member and president), St. Paul Parish Council, St. Paul Carnival Association, St. Paul Seafood Festival, Pass Christian Recreation director and Planning Commission, Knights of Columbus, St. Stanislaus Gridiron Club and Hardwood Club.

He coached football, basketball and track at St. Paul's for 25 years. He has coached the St. Stanislaus alumni football team for three years.

Wittmann has been married for 30 years to the former Linda Lee French. They have five children, sons Casey, Kerry and Kyle, and daughters Kimberly and Krissy.

Gaye Parker is circuit clerk of Harrison County. She was elected in September 1991 and took office Jan. 6, 1992. Parker served as chief court administrator for Harrison, Hancock and Stone counties 1975-1991.

Parker has 31 years experience in public service and administration. She attended St. Joseph School (now St. Paul Catholic School). She was graduated from Pass Christian High School and has attended numerous seminars on court management and the Judicial College in Reno.

In 1987 she served as first president of the Mississippi State Court Administrators. In 1989 she was the recipient of The Liberty Bell Award by the Young Lawyers Section of the Mississippi State Bar, and in 1990 Parker received the Mississippi Justice Achievement Award presented by the Mississippi Court Administrators Association.

Parker is a lifelong member of St. Paul Parish in Pass Christian, where she served four years on the Parish Council. She served as president of St. Paul's Carnival Association in 1986.

She is a member of the Altar Society and was appointed to serve as an extraordinary eucharistic minister, St. Paul Catholic Church, and is a former Sunday School teacher.

Parker is married to Robert "Bobby" Parker. They have been married for 34 years and are the parents of three grown daughters, Angelia, Denise and Holly, and a 27-month-old grandson.

Parker is the daughter of Lema Koolsbergen of Long Beach and the late Vincent Edward Koolsbergen. The Parkers reside in DeLisle.

The 1995 king and queen of the Pass Christian Mardi Gras will reign over the annual carnival ball Feb. 25. The parade will roll Feb. 26 at 1 p.m.

For ball ticket information contact St. Paul's School at 452-7359.

For information about the parade, contact the parade marshal, Frank Wittmann, at 864-1600.

Doublon contest winner announced

St. Paul's Carnival Association of Pass Christian announces Charles W. Tippit of Bay St. Louis is the winner of the annual Doublon Design Contest for 1995.

Tippit's design depicts the 1995 theme, "Going My Way," with different modes of transportation and travel.

His prize included a $100 savings bond and a collector's set of doublons bearing his design.

For doublon information, contact St. Paul's School at 452-7359.

Hancock Class of '75 plans reunion meeting

The Hancock North Central Class of 1975 will hold an organizational meeting on March 6, 6 p.m. at Shoney's Waveland.

Karen Lyons Pyle, spokesman said, "This will be our 20th anniversary since graduation and several of us would like to have a great celebration."

Pyle said, "We also want anyone who was ever a member of this class to consider attending the organizational meeting and the reunion for which a date will be set."

Darnell Cuevas, Donna Landner, Susan Shaw, Debbie McCordle and Pyle are among the parties thus far interested in having a reunion.

The organizational meeting will be a dutch treat meal.

Host families sought for international students

Area host families are being sought for high school students from Western and Eastern Europe, Asia, South America, Australia, and the former Soviet Union for the 1995-96 school year in a program sponsored by the American Intercultural Student Exchange (AISE).

These exceptional students, ages 15 through 18, will arrive in the United States at the end of August, attend a local high school, and return to their home countries in June of 1996. The students, all fluent in English, have been carefully screened by the local representatives in their home countries, and have their own medical insurance and spending money.

AISE's main focus is teaching young people about the importance of the acceptance of other cultures. Don't let this exciting opportunity pass you by! Call 1-800-SIBLING for more information.

USM project assesses social needs on Coast

A project to assess needs in three Gulf Coast counties will give agencies in that area information they can use while providing University of Southern Mississippi students with some real-world experience.

Dr. Timothy Rehner, assistant professor in USM's School of Social Work, is working with the United Way of South Mississippi to survey the needs of residents in Harrison, Hancock and Pearl River counties. Rehner said United Way volunteers will work with USM students to conduct individual interviews with residents in designated areas in the tri-county area.

The survey work will be conducted April 1.

"There has been a significant amount of growth and change in the area because of casino gambling," Rehner said. "The focus of the study is not on casino gambling. But the recognition is that gaming has been a major force in developing the area over the last few years and the social needs of the area have changed."

Rehner recently spent a day on the gulf Coast "pilot-testing" the survey instrument students and United Way volunteers will use in collecting information from residents in the counties.

"Social issues sometimes take a back burner," Rehner said. "The tremendous growth in the area has created an increased demand for some services and new problems.

"The boom in the area has left some people in its wake. The hope is this survey can help define the needs so that agencies that can help with those needs, and put their resources to work in the best way possible."

USM students from all schools are welcome to join social work students in the survey effort, Rehner said. There will be no out-of-pocket expenses involved in participating.

Once the survey is conducted, social work students will compile and analyze the data and determine which agencies in the three-county area are most effective.

Those interested in helping conduct the survey should call Rehner at (601) 266-5900 or (601) 266-4163.

Daniels named new head coach at Pearl River Community College

A former assistant coach at Mississippi's three largest universities is the new head football coach at Pearl River Community College.

Keith Daniels, with 26 years of coaching experience, including 19 years as an offensive assistant to Division One senior college coaches Billy Brewer, Al Kincaid, Rocky Felker, Jim Carmody, Bob Tyler and Ken Cooper, was the unanimous choice of Pearl River's six member selection committee.

During the regular February board meeting, the 16-member Pearl River College Board of Trustees put its stamp of approval on the hiring of Daniels.

Daniels was one of 22 junior and senior college assistants, and high school coaches, in and outside the state, who applied for the job.

Daniels, 46, who was in charge of running backs and the offensive kicking game last year at the University of Mississippi, replaces Willie Coats, who resigned last month to accept a position with East Central Community College.

"My years of coaching experience has exposed me to a variety of programs and situations," said Daniels. "This has allowed me to broaden my background and knowledge from my association with some quality coaches and programs."

"I am impressed with Keith's outstanding and consistent performance as an offensive coordinator and assistant coach in Division One football," said PRCC President Ted Alexander.

"During our selection process, we continually heard the same positive statements from those who provided reference information," said Alexander.

When approved, Daniels will immediately assume his head coach position at Pearl River.

Daniels is married to the former Charolette Hartzog and they have one daughter, Sunny, who is a freshman at Northwest Community College.

Mrs. Daniels has been employed as a counselor for the Oxford City Schools.

Teacher workshop at Stennis

Teachers across South Mississippi and Louisiana took an adventure into the rain forest during a teacher workshop conducted by the NASA Teacher Resource Center at John C. Stennis Space Center's Lil' Red Schoolhouse. About 40 kindergarten through 6th-grade teachers from Slidell, La., to Meridian, Miss., participated in the workshop, "The Rain Forest: A Thematic Unit." The workshop showed teachers how to explore the rain forest with their students while teaching them skills and concepts in the areas of social studies, science, language arts and math. With the Lil' Red Schoolhouse transformed into a rain forest, teachers spent the day in natural surroundings while participating in hands-on activities which can be used as instructional lessons in the classroom. The rain forest workshop is one of three teacher workshops offered at Stennis in celebration of Earth Day, which is April 22. Pictured, from left, Robin Craft of Bay St. Louis and Shawn Ladner of Pass Christian, elementary education students at the University of Southern Mississippi, and Sheryl Hughes of Westside Elementary School in Picayune participate in a mass measuring activity that predicts the approximate height of a tree.

Computer course set at USM

WordPerfect: Intermediate will be taught at the University of Southern Mississippi-Gulf Coast's Gulf Park campus in Long Beach and at the USM Center in Jackson County during March.

The course presents some of WordPerfect's more advanced features.

The course will be taught at Gulf Park March 8 and 10 from 8:30 a.m. to noon each day. It will be taught at the USM Center in Jackson County March 13 and 15 from 8:30 to noon each day.

Cost of the course in either location is $66. Both courses are presented by USM-Gulf Coast's Division of Continuing Education.

For information or registration, call 865-4508 (Gulf Park) or 497-5135 (Jackson County).

make scientific discovery and cultural awareness relate to a student's world," Walker said. "All the disciplines are covered in these programs and there is special attention given to making sure students see how the concepts they discuss relate to the rest of the world."

The program is aimed at students in grades 4-12. The cost per student is $2. There are five one-hour broadcasts daily at MEC&A, and space remains available at almost all times during the 11-day run. Sister Donella of Our Lady of Academy and Lisa Williams of Coast Episcopal both took groups of students to JASON V in 1994.

For more information, contact Johnette Bosarge, Jean Johnson or Betty Schoen at MEC&A by calling (601) 374-5550.

The J.L. Scott Marine Education Center and Aquarium again is serving as one of 28 Primary Interactive Network sites worldwide for this year's JASON Project. JASON VI: Island Earth is scheduled to be shown five times daily from February 27-March 11 at MEC&A, a division of the Gulf Coast Research Laboratory, which is administered by the University of Southern Mississippi.

"This year's JASON Project is looking at how the planet was formed," said Dr. Sharon Walker, MEC&A administrator. "They are basing the project in Hawaii. Since the Hawaiian islands were all volcanically made, the scientists will conduct experiments and make presumptions based on volcanic activity."

Concepts like global warming and global change will be explored during JASON VI, Walker said. Since the project originates from Hawaii, the program also looks at the Hawaiian culture and habitat, Walker said.

"One of the main things the JASON projects try to do is to

Quinlan and Matheson make state All-Star soccer team

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II

The 1995 Coca-Cola All-Star Soccer team for Mississippi has been announced and two area players have made the team.

Brooks Quinlan and David Matheson, both of St. Stanislaus, made the South All-Star team that will take on the North All-Star team on June 24. The game will be played at Joe Renfroe Stadium on the campus of Hinds Community College in Raymond. The players are to report for practice at Hinds Community College on June 21.

Quinlan, a defender, and Matheson, a keeper, were both seniors on the Rock-a-chaw team that went 12-10-1 this year and made it to the second round of the state playoffs.

How's your economic literacy?

"As the U.S. Congress debates a balanced budget, aid to Mexico and other national financial issues, it's a good time to take stock of our economic literacy."

A Mississippi State University professor says Americans in general have a lot to learn.

Economics professor Paul Grimes offers a few questions, taken from a national survey, to help you test your knowledge of our country's economics:

1. Economic growth is measured by which of the following? a) Gross Domestic Product, b) money supply, c) Producer Price Index.

2. Which of the following is the most widely used measure of inflation? a) the Index of Leading Economic Indicators, b) the Federal Funds Rate, c) Consumer Price Index.

3. When is there a deficit in the federal budget? a) when the total demand for money is greater than the total supply of money, b) when government spending is greater than tax revenues, c) when U.S. imports are greater than U.S. exports.

4. What is the main purpose of the Federal Reserve? a) responsibility for monetary policy/money supply, b) controlling interest rates, c) regulating and controlling money.

5. What is the current rate of inflation? a) 3-4 percent, b) 5-6 percent, c) 7 percent.

The answers may help you rate your own understanding of national finances: 1-a, 2-c, 3-b, 4-all correct, 5-a.

Improving our economic literacy means understanding concepts such as the deficit, economic growth and inflation -- and it means more, Grimes says.

"Economics really is about making the right choices, and economic education is learning how to make economic decisions on your own."

A strong advocate of economic education, Grimes says that understanding economics should be important to each American. "People can't make the economic system work for them if they don't know how the system works."

What can you do? This is one of the most critical areas of public education," Grimes believes. "People need to stay in touch with their school boards and urge board members to provide economics instruction in our schools. I believe schools should be evaluated in part on how well they promote economic education."

One final note. The five economic questions were taken from "A National Survey of Economic Literacy."

If you didn't do well, you're in good company. Just over half of those surveyed knew what causes the deficit. Forty percent knew how to define economic growth. Only a third knew the purpose of the Federal Reserve, and a mere 11 percent knew the current rate of inflation.

Public Notice

DATE: FEBRUARY 17, 1995
LEGAL NOTICE
ORDER OF THE MISSISSIPPI DEPARTMENT OF MARINE RESOURCES CLOSING CERTAIN GYPSY HARVESTING AREAS IN ALBION
BY ORDER OF THE MISSISSIPPI DEPARTMENT OF MARINE RESOURCES, THE FOLLOWING AREAS OF MISSISSIPPI THAT HAD BEEN OPENED TO GYPSY HARVESTING ARE HEREBY CLOSED EFFECTIVE AT 4:00 P.M. ON FRIDAY, THE 17TH DAY OF FEBRUARY, 1995 AND UNTIL FURTHER NOTICE.

ALL AREA #2 CONDITIONALLY APPROVED WATERFRONT ENCLOSURE BY THE FOLLOWING DATES:

The date shall commence at a point on the CSX railroad bridge across the Bay of St. Louis at the center of the swing span and run easterly along said bridge to a point 700 feet seaward of the eastern end of said bridge thence, running south-southeastward, parallel to and 700 feet seaward of the western end of said bridge to Henderson Point following the meanderings of the shoreline 700 feet therefrom, running east and remaining 700 feet seaward of the prohibited waters of Pass Christian Municipal Harbor to a point 700 feet south of the mouth of the Mercey River. From the mouth of the Mercey River to Pass Christian, Mississippi, thence running southerly along a direct line drawn between the point 700 feet south from the point on the shoreline due south of Mercey Avenue to the westernmost tip of Cat Island, to a point of intersection with a line drawn in a straight line from the mouth of the Mercey River to 45° 22' on the western edge of Square Handkerchief Shoal and Gilbert Ship Channel Beacon FLG 2.5 sec. 17 ft. "71" thence, westward along said line between Beacon "2" and Beacon "71" to Beacon FLR 4, 45° 17' 4M "2" in the mouth of the Mercey River. The date on the CSX railroad bridge across the Bay of St. Louis will center the swing span; said point being the POINT OF BEGINNING. This area includes portions of the public reefs known as Henderson Point and Pass Christian.

This area is conditionally approved waters in Area #2, as determined by Order of the Mississippi Commission on Marine Resources that encompasses the west by a line running due south from the westernmost shoreline boundary of the City of Bay St. Louis, in Hancock County, on the east by a line running due south from the westernmost shoreline of the highway bridge that crosses the St. Louis Bay and on the west by a line beginning 700 feet seaward of the U.S. Highway 90 bridge and the shoreline in Hancock County and running south-southwestward parallel to and remaining 700 feet seaward from said bridge and shoreline. The area is bounded on the north by the area known as the St. Stanislaus Tipping Reef.

THESE AREAS ARE CLOSED BECAUSE OF RAINFALL WHICH MAY HAVE CAUSED FECAL COLIFORM BACTERIA LEVELS TO EXCEED THOSE ALLOWED BY THE MISSISSIPPI DEPARTMENT OF MARINE RESOURCES IN THEIR RESPECTIVE MANAGEMENT PLAN CONTAINED IN ATTACHMENT A OF ORDINANCE 1.007. THESE AREAS ARE HEREBE DECLINED NOT DECIALIZED SAFE AND SANITARY AND OYSTER REEFS ARE HEREBE DECLINED NOT DECIALIZED AND ARE DEEMED AND DETERMINED TO BE CONTAMINATED OR OTHERWISE UNFIT FOR CONSUMPTION.

SAYD AREAS SHALL REMAIN CLOSED UNTIL SUCH TIME AS THE AREA AGAIN CONFORM TO THEIR MANAGEMENT PLANS. THE FEDERAL AND STATE COLIFORM COUNTS ARE AGAIN WITHIN ACCEPTABLE LEVELS, AND OYSTERS ARE DEEMED SAFE FOR HARVESTING BY ORDER OF THE MISSISSIPPI DEPARTMENT OF MARINE RESOURCES.

ORDERED THIS, THE 17TH DAY OF FEBRUARY, 1995.
